ABSTRACT

Input data is received by an execution unit. One or more current multiply-accumulate operations are performed by the execution unit on the received input data and on input data received by the execution unit for one or more prior multiply-accumulate operations and saved

5   by the execution unit.